

Why use guided surgery?

Nowadays, Guided Surgery is one of the tools that we have in implantology. It becomes our work in something easier. Besides, it helps us to improve the safety, accuracy and predictability of our treatments. That the reason why we should know all the necessary steps for success in guided surgery, the cases in which we are going to use it and the advantages and disadvantages of the different systems we find in the market