

Complete digital implant workflow: From planning to restoration

Implant practice is rapidly jumping into the digital era. Many techniques, materials and equipment are proposed to optimize implant treatment outcomes using the digital technology. The lecture focuses on simplifying implant planning and placement using the guided approach. It also outlines new methods of digitally integrating implant restorations with guided planning, aiming to provide precise implant restoration in immediate and delayed loading scenarios